

Thinking about a career in broadcast news?

SIGN UP for

Face Time with the Pros

Saturday, March 28

8:30 am – 4:30 pm

Philip Merrill College of Journalism, University of Maryland, College Park, MD

COLLEGE & HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS REGISTER NOW!

REGISTER NOW for a day full of seminars, hands-on experiences and face-to-face time with broadcast professionals from around the region.

Space is limited.

This is your chance to meet and get advice from news directors and other newsroom leaders.

The day kicks off with a panel of news directors and other newsroom leaders offering insights into the job market and advice about getting your first job. Students will rotate through a series of sessions that include: better story-telling; working the live shot (which includes a live truck); in-studio performance tips. There will be two new, alternative sessions offered as well: “Going Digital” and “Producing the Documentary.”

There will also be lots of opportunities for one-on-one sessions with the pros who can review resumes, resume reels and provide job interview tips.

The day concludes with words of advice and a question & answer session with veteran broadcasters.

REGISTRATION IS NOW OPEN!

Registration, which includes lunch & a continental breakfast, is $15 and is open to college and high school students.

Registration closes FRIDAY, March 20th.

The National Capital Chesapeake Bay Chapter of NATAS and the Chesapeake Associated Press Broadcasters Association are sponsors of Face Time with the Pros.

